The Aegean Exporters' Association (AEA) is a prominent organization representing exporters across various industries in Turkey. Established to support and promote trade, the association plays a key role in enhancing the global reach of Turkish products, with a strong emphasis on quality, sustainability, and innovation.

Among the sectors under its umbrella, the Olive and Olive Oil industry stands out as a flagship. Known for producing some of the world's finest olives and premium-quality olive oils, the Aegean region is celebrated for its rich agricultural heritage and dedication to excellence. The association actively collaborates with local producers to showcase these exceptional products on the international stage, ensuring they meet the evolving demands of global markets.

Through initiatives like trade fairs, sourcing events, and B2B meetings, the AEA serves as a bridge between Turkish exporters and buyers worldwide, fostering connections and driving the growth of the Olive and Olive Oil sector.
